A hymn to both parents and children When I started writing this children's book, there was nothing in my eyes but pure love. When I finished the last sentence of the first draft I could hardly see – they were flooded with tears of great joy. I think this is the meaning of being a parent. I hope that when you read this bedtime story to your kids, you will feel the same. Our kids are our treasures. They should feel like ones, too. This bedtime story is a true gift for years "Do you know that... Once upon a time, You were just a happy thought In your parent's heart and mind? You were a tiny secret, A growing gift of love... This children's picture book is suitable as a read aloud book for preschoolers or a self-read kids book for older children. Thank you, Prof. Tiptoe
